Swindler Of Women Gives Back $5,000

Chicago Victim Repaid By Dapper Romeo, 73

Chicago, June 27 (AP)—A dapper, charming 73-year-old swindler, who made a career of bilking women languished in jail awaiting arraignment today on confidence game charges.

He is Sigmund Engel, who admits swindling women the world over out of millions with his smooth talk ("wonderful tunes can be played on an old violin") and bouquets of roses.

The 5-foot, 3-inch Lothario was captured Friday night at a Michigan avenue luggage shop. Police baited a trap for him using a 55-year-old woman he planned to add to his list of victims.

Engel is charged with bilking Mrs. Reseda J. Corrigan, 39, and the mother of three, out of $8,700 after promising to marry her.

Of that amount, $5,000 was reported to have been returned to Mrs. Corrigan by the elderly confidence man Saturday night.

The two met in the Loop office of Engel's attorney in a mystery-closed trust.

The unannounced meeting drew the ire of State's Attorney John S. Boyle, who said he would thoroughly investigate it today.

The conference of the suave Engel and his victim of earlier this month was contrary to normal police procedure, Boyle said.

Engel was taken from his cell Saturday night and with three policemen was whisked in a private automobile to the office of Attorney Irving Kruger. There he and Kruger met Mrs. Corrigan and one of her two daughters.

After the meeting, Mrs. Corrigan said she had accepted $5,000 from the white-haired Romeo and signed a receipt for the money.

Boy Wrecks School He Didn't Like In Cass City District

Cass City, Mich., June 27 (AP)—This 12-year-old boy didn't mind getting an education, but he objected to getting it at a rural school.

So, Tuscola county Sheriff George F. Jeffrey reported, he led a raid on Quick rural school near here.

With the help of an eight-year-old sister and a seven-year-old brother, the youth smashed windows, chopped legs off the piano, wrecked desks and smeared paint on the blackboards.

Jeffrey said it was all done so the Quick school would be closed and the 12-year-old would be sent back to a city school.

The sheriff, who withheld the children's names, said their parents had agreed to pay the damage, estimated at $1,000.

The older boy, Jeffrey reported, had gone to school in Cass City for two years while the Quick school was closed.

EDUCATOR DEAD — Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, noted educator who served as Secretary of the Interior in President Hoover's cabinet, died Sunday at his home in Palo Alto, Calif. He was U. S. food administrator during World War I and was credited with originating the slogan: "Food will win the war."

Ray Lyman Wilbur Dies In California

Eminent Educator Served In Hoover Cabinet

Palo Alto, Calif., June 27 (AP)—Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, who earned eminence as an educator, in government service, in medicine and as a humanitarian, died yesterday of heart disease. He was 74.

The tall, Lincolnlike physician was president of Stanford university 27 years and its chancellor since 1943.

As Secretary of the Interior in the cabinet of Herbert Hoover, a lifelong friend, he battled for conservation, for better housing and better care for Indians.

As a medical man, he fought medical costs, illiteracy, syphilis, quackery and inferior medical schools.

He founded the California physicians' service—the model for prepaid voluntary health plans in this country.

He served as president both of the American Academy of Medicine and the American Medical Association.

Hoover said in New York: "America is a better place for his having lived in it."

Wilbur found time in his crowded life for a myriad of interests.

He helped found the Institute of Pacific Relations and served as its president and chairman. He was a trustee of a national conference on family life, a trustee of the Rockefeller foundation, and a consultant both to the Army and the Navy in World War II.

In the first World War, Wilbur was chief of the Conservation Division of the United States Food Administration. He is credited with the slogan, "Food Will Win the War."

Five-Time Premier Of Spain Dies at 85

Madrid, Spain, June 27 (AP)—Alejandro Lerroux, 85, five times Premier of Republican Spain, died early this morning.

The family announced that Lerroux, who had proclaimed his agnosticism throughout his life, returned to the Catholic church and received the sacrament on his deathbed. He will be buried in Madrid's Catholic cemetery.

Lerroux was reported ill in Lisbon, Portugal, in 1945. He had been in exile there since the Civil War. In 1947 Generalissimo Franco gave him permission to return to Spain.

A life-long Republican he had been exiled several times by King Alfonso XIII. Each time he returned, his power as chief of the radical Republican party grew greater.

Lerroux was as strongly opposed to Socialism and Communism as he was to the monarchy, and for this reason left-wing groups prevented his election as president of the republic after the throne was overturned in 1931.

Outlook Not Bright To Settle Hawaii's Waterfront Strike

Honolulu, June 27 (AP)—Negotiations in Hawaii's waterfront strike resume today. Prospects for ending the 58-day tieup were not bright.

Spokesmen for employers and CIO stevedores got together for an hour Friday for the first time since May 20. All they agreed upon was to meet again today.

Two thousand stevedores of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union struck May 1. They wanted their $1.40 an hour pay boosted 32 cents. Employers offered 12 cents; later withdrew the offer.

Floods Evict 2500 In Southern Chile

Santiago, Chile, June 27 (AP)—Large sections of southern Chile were flooded today and some 2,500 persons were driven from their homes when torrential rains caused two rivers to overflow their banks.

The cities of Osorno and Llanquihue were reported flooded and railway service paralyzed in the wake of the rampaging waters.

Mine Owners Study New Lewis Scheme To Share The Work

Pittsburgh, June 27 (AP)—A big bloc of northern and western coal operators met behind closed doors today to debate John L. Lewis' new share-the-work program.

Their answer—which may be given the United Mine Workers president tomorrow when contract sessions resume at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., may determine whether the nation's 400,000 soft coal diggers stop work again July 6.

An operators' spokesman said any reaction to the Lewis proposal would probably be kept a close secret until the operators' negotiators gather around the conference table with Lewis.

Lewis has put this proposal before them.

He will change the "no contract, no work" policy of the United Mine Workers and keep the miners in the pits after the present contract expires, provided—

The industry goes on a uniform three-day work week during negotiations for a new pact.

The alternative is a shutdown of all bituminous mines. The UMW leader made that proposal to northern and western operators at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., where he and the management officials have been talking contract terms.

Lewis has said time and time again that he wants to stabilize conditions in the coal industry.

Such a three-day week would be a step toward guaranteed employment for workers in the soft coal mines.

The three-day work week would also serve to whittle down the present above-the-ground coal stockpile estimated at about 75,000,000 tons, enough to run the general economy more than two months. This stockpile stands operators in good stead when it comes to bargaining.

When the stockpiles dwindle "there may be some operators willing to make a contract at a bigger price," one industry spokesman declared.

President of Syria Inaugurated Sunday After Revolution

Damascus, Syria, June 27 (AP)—Col. Husni Zayim, who already has toughened Syria's attitude toward both Israel and Arab-Transjordan, is the new president of his country.

Syria's strong man was unopposed in Saturday's elections for the presidency. He was inaugurated yesterday.

He received 726,116 of the 730,116 votes cast by an electorate of 816,321 in this Arab country of 3,400,000. Women do not have the vote.

The soldier-president is field marshal of the army and commander-in-chief as well as president. He came to power by overthrowing the government of President Al Sayed Shukri Al Kuwari in a coup last March 30.

He accused the government of corruption, made himself interim military ruler and called for the election.

Jap War Prisoners Arrive Home After 4 Years In Russia

Maizuru, Japan, June 27 (AP)—Two thousand cheering Japanese returned today after nearly four years as Russian war prisoners. They were the first to arrive since the Soviets suspended repatriation last winter.

General McArthur has been pressing Russia to resume the return of the Japanese. He said 408,000 were held. The Russians reported they had 95,000.

No Relief In Sight For Sizzling States

By the Associated Press

Most of the nation east of the Rocky Mountains sweltered in humid stickiness today, and there was little relief in sight.

The U. S. weather bureau in Chicago said that except for a few spots, no rain had fallen over a hot, humid weekend and none was predicted before Tuesday.

Even then light, scattered thundershowers won't give much relief, the bureau forecast.

West of the Rockies it was generally cooler. A line of thundershowers was reported moving from Kansas up to Minnesota, although the showers were to dissipate by the time they reached Minneapolis.

But there were a few rainy spots in the country. Northern

Housing Bill Faces First House Test

By ROBERT M. FARRINGTON

Washington, June 27 (AP)—The House faced its first test voting today on the administration's multi-billion dollar program of public housing and slum clearance.

After a week of hot debate, a long list of amendments and substitute proposals were up for decision. House administration leaders predicted that the Senate-passed bill would clear their chamber and go to the White House by Friday.

If so, it will be a major victory for the president's "fair deal" program. Opponents are not giving up, though. They are sticking to their arguments that the bill is (1) a threat to the nation's financial stability and (2) a long step toward Socialism.

The measure as drawn calls for construction of 1,050,000 public housing units in seven years. House Democratic leaders have agreed to scale this figure down to 810,000 units in six years, which is the way the Senate approved it.

The total cost, including loans, slum clearance and farm housing aid, is estimated all the way from $7,500,000 to $20,000,000,000 in 40 years.

Although the Senate will not pick up its labor debate again until tomorrow, the fight over repeal of the Taft-Hartley law still dominates that side of Capitol Hill.

Lines on what to do about strikes threatening the national welfare have been pretty clearly marked out, and voting on this section of the law will clear the way for what senators generally regard as the real scrap.

A series of votes scheduled for tomorrow will let the Senators decide whether to keep the T-H provision for injunctions against national emergency strikes, or to authorize government seizure instead, or to have both injunction and seizure.

Youth Stands Trial For Church Slaying

Roanoke, Va., June 27 (AP)—Sixteen witnesses and a panel of 60 prospective jurors were assembled today for the trial of Lee (Buddy) Scott, the 16-year-old charged with the slaying of his schoolmate, Dana Marie Weaver, also 16, in a Roanoke church building.

And the 123 persons—plus court officials, attorneys, and a battery of newsmen—were the only people who stood a chance of making their way to this city's small and quiet Hastings courtroom.

Scott, held in jail since May 10 after a tip from a Jefferson high school student led to his arrest, has been examined by two psychiatrists and a psychologist.

Their reports—the conclusions of which were not announced—were available at his preliminary hearing.

It was seven weeks ago, on the morning of May 9, that the janitor of Christ Episcopal church found blonde Dana Marie's bruised and beaten body lying in a pool of blood in the church's parish house kitchen. Pieces of a broken bottle lay beside her. A coroner said death came from suffocation.

The following day came the tip to investigate Scott. A student said his face bore scratches.

Strategy Mapped For Atlantic Pact And Arming Europe

Washington, June 27 (AP)—Administration leaders today awaited a White House decision on strategy for getting an arms-for-Europe program through Congress without risking the fate of the Atlantic Pact.

Some lawmakers said they expected the signal to come from President Truman during his conference today with House and Senate leaders.

The administration wants swift action on both the pact, which has little opposition, and the arms program, which has plenty. In this situation, officials expressed fear that if the plan to rearm western European and others nations is presented too soon it might hurt the chances of the Atlantic treaty.

The pact must be ratified by the Senate alone; both houses must approve the related arms program.

As members of Congress awaited word from the president on the timing of the arms program, it was disclosed that the administration wants to set up a $100,000,000 revolving credit under the program to help Latin American countries buy military equipment in this country.

The credit would be used strictly for advance financing of later American orders. Unlike the remainder of the arms program, it would not be used for outright grants of military assistance to countries receiving American backing to enable them to resist Communist pressures.

Latin American countries have long had difficulties, officials explained, in obtaining from private manufacturers in the United States the military equipment they desire for their armed forces.

Under the credit they could order such equipment through the United States National Defense establishment.

The Secretary of Defense would place the orders and use government credit for advance financing. When an arms order was ready for delivery it would be turned over to the country which placed it upon payment of cash.

What is to be asked of Congress is authority to make contracts up to a maximum of $100,000,000 at any one time.

Spurned Sailor, 50, Takes Three Lives

Woman Slain In Ambush At Hawk Point, Mo.

Hawk Point, Mo., June 27 (AP)—A 50-year-old bachelor, rejected as a sailor, murdered a comely red-haired divorcee and one of her two escorts yesterday in an early morning ambush.

Then the bachelor, George Hammonds, committed suicide by taking poison.

Mrs. Florence Zumwalt, 32, who lived on a farm near here, and Henry F. Grober, 20, High Hill, Mo., were shot to death. Seriously wounded was William David Mordt, 31, Hawk Point, Mo. Sheriff Porter Course attributed the shooting to a "one-sided love affair."

He said Hammonds had been going with Mrs. Zumwalt for about two years and that Mordt had been attentive to her since last month.

Hammonds, an Olney, Mo., garage man, left a note signed "unlucky George" which said he was in love with Mrs. Zumwalt and that he was "going to settle the account."

The note said in another part: "Don't ever do this. I shot all three, then myself. 1:20 Sunday morning."

Perjury Conviction Of Milwaukee CIO Leader Tossed Out

Washington, June 27 (AP)—The Supreme Court today threw out the perjury conviction of Harold R. Christoffel, former Milwaukee labor leader.

Christoffel was convicted in U. S. District Court here on a charge that he falsely told the House Labor committee he had never been a Communist or had any Communist connections. He was sentenced to two to six years.

The Supreme Tribunal ruled 5-4 today that the government in such a prosecution must be able to show positively that a quorum of the House committee was present when Christoffel allegedly committed perjury.

Union Bows To Demands From Big 3

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Berlin, June 27 (AP)—The Allies announced today four power talks on Germany will be revived tomorrow afternoon. The five-week-long rail strike which has imposed a virtual second blockade on Berlin is scheduled to end in the morning.

The meeting of the four deputy military governors will be held in the Allied control authority building, virtually deserted for a year. The deputies used to be called a coordinating committee and did the spadework for their superiors, the military governors.

They last met on March 17, 1948. Their new conference was called to carry out the will of the Big Four foreign ministers, who decided at Paris a week ago today that four-power talks should be begun to forge at least "a way of life" for Germany and Berlin, even though major disagreements on policy in the divided city and nation still exist.

Informed sources said tomorrow's agenda probably would include the trade situation and transport conditions. Trade in Soviet-occupied Eastern Germany is sagging. In western occupied zones, it is booming.

The executive board of the anti-Communist railway union (UGO) bowed to the orders of the western Allies yesterday and ordered members back to work on the Soviet-controlled railways at that time.

The British, American and French commanders in Berlin had warned that if the strike were not called off by Tuesday, the West Berlin city government would quit relief payments to the strikers.

Pay In West Marks

They said the strike could no longer be justified because it was seriously damaging Berlin economically, was blocking the Paris four-power agreements to revive east-west trade, and was laying a big burden on the western powers in maintaining the airlift.

Strikers won two of their three major demands.

All salaries will be paid in west marks. Since this currency has a purchasing power four to six times as great as the Soviet-sponsored east mark, railway strikers have won one of the greatest wage boosts in industrial history.

The railway management will convert 60 per cent of each employee's east mark salary into west marks; the west Berlin city government will exchange the other 40 per cent.

The Russian-controlled railway management has given assurances

Sister of Actress Linda Darnell Hurt In Rodeo Accident

Sonoma, Calif., June 27 (AP)—Linda Darnell's young sister was seriously injured in a rodeo stunt yesterday—but says she'll ride again.

Monte Malova Darnell, 20, was dragged 200 feet, burned, lost a tooth and suffered shock.

The two black horses she was riding roman style—one foot on each—slipped instead of racing through a large burning hoop. They sped around it—spreading Monty. Then the blazing hoop collapsed on her.

It was Monte's first accident in four years of riding the rodeo circuit. She used the name Monte Malova to avoid trading on Sister Linda's movie stardom fame.

The horses finally halted at a fence.

A rope tied around Monte's ankle sawed the flesh. Her face was scratched. She suffered nervous shock.

He suffered a fractured left leg and fractured skull. Bartels was going south on the highway about 35 miles an hour. Larson, walking across the highway from the west to east, stepped onto the concrete and into the path of the car. The accident occurred 63 feet south of the convalescent home driveway entrance. Authorities said Larson was known as a "wanderer" and last winter had left the convalescent home and was sought for several hours before he was found and returned. Counterfeit Bills For About $100,000 Seized In Capital

Washington, June 27 (AP)—Secret service agents today seized almost $100,000 in counterfeit bills in a raid only a half dozen blocks from the White House and secret service headquarters. The money was being made, the treasury said, in an office suite at 1807 H street, northwest, in the same block with World Bank headquarters. Four men and a woman were arrested. A formal statement by the treasury said charges of manufacturing and passing counterfeit currency were placed against Eugene Hampton Creighton, 25; Walter Wilbur Kidwell, 30; William F. Hughes, 28 and his wife Josephine, 25; and Arthur M. Bebar, 35. All gave Washington addresses. The treasury said Creighton and Kidwell "admitted manufacturing the counterfeit bills in their business office suite. They rented the suite March 30, and had inserted in the lease a clause permitting them to "operate a duplicating machine," the treasury said. The game of auction bridge originated in India.

Supervisors Study Equalized Value Of Delta County

The annual equalization session of the Delta county board of supervisors continued this afternoon as the supervisors considered the problem of equalizing, for county tax purposes, the property valuations of the townships and the cities.

It is expected the total equalized valuation may be increased to $27,000,000 so that sufficient tax revenue may be obtained to operate county government. It was on the basis of that total figure that tax millage rates were allocated to the county and school districts last spring.

The supervisors referred to its finance committee a request of the county employees union for salary increases, and a report from the committee was expected this afternoon.

More than 23 million youngsters from five to 17 are enrolled in U. S. public schools.

Following children: Clarence of Newberry, Lloyd of Engadine, Mrs. Spencer Pohlman of Blauey, Mrs. Siegfried Fandrick of Engadine, and Mrs. Hugh Fisher of Garden. Funeral arrangements had not been completed today, and were awaiting the arrival of the sons and daughters.

Richie Mitchell Dies in Milwaukee

Milwaukee, Wis.—Richie Mitchell, 54, onetime contender for the lightweight boxing crown, lost his toughest battle yesterday.

He died at 4:40 at Miseriordia hospital, where he was taken three days ago for an emergency appendectomy.

His wife, Florence, who had been at his bedside since he was stricken, was on the verge of collapse, last night, and was put to bed at the hospital.

The game little boxer, given accolades by the sporting world for his clean fighting and sportsmanship, fought the best of his class in his day. It was in 1921 that he was knocked out by Benjie Leonard in Madison Square Garden in the fight for the title.

It was a benefit affair, staged by Tex Rickard, and sponsored by Annie Morgan, sister of J. P. Morgan. The fight receipts went for relief of devastated France.

Topnotchers he met in the ring included Charlie White, Rocky Kansas, Johnny Dundee, Freddie Welsh, Ad Wolgast, Joe Rivers and Johnny Kilbane.

Mitchell had visited Escanaba a number of times in connection with Golden Gloves boxing activities.

The English language is spoken today by more than 270 million people, of whom more than half are Americans.

Home Building Costs Shrinking

THE WALL Street Journal, which keeps a close check on business conditions throughout the country, reports that a coast to coast survey reveals a drop in construction costs of 10 per cent to 25 per cent from a year ago. Most of the decline incidentally, has occurred within the past three months.

The cases involving reductions as high as 25 per cent were, of course, infrequent but the average seemed to be close to 10 per cent.

A reduction in material costs is one factor in the price decline but a more important factor is the increased efficiency of the workers. Builders report that the "don't give a damn" attitude that prevailed in the early postwar years is rapidly disappearing. Builders report that a surplus of labor has made it possible to pick workers willing to do a conscientious job. Those who lean on the shovel quickly join the army of unemployed.

Home purchasers are not the only ones profiting by this reversal of the trend. Public construction is on the downturn, too. Several school boards have reported that late bids are substantially under estimates made several months ago.

All of this is good news for the country. Lower prices will naturally mean more construction. Perhaps we can soon make a new and better start towards providing homes for the thousands of American families who need them and want them but who cannot afford to pay outlandish prices.

Isolationism Is Relic Of The Past

NO burst of cheers greeted the unanimous approval of the North Atlantic Treaty by the Senate Foreign Relations committee. The event generally was accepted happily but quietly.

The truth is, approval by this group and the senate itself has been taken for granted from the start.

Viewed in a broad setting, this reaction is startling. Who would have guessed in 1940, when the isolationist debates were raging, that today the United States would take on heavy peacetime foreign commitments almost nonchalantly?

Here we are, preparing to enter a tight mutual defense pact with 11 other nations of the "Atlantic community." Never before in our history has a security effort of this magnitude even been seriously broached. It stands as a towering milestone in American foreign policy.

And yet, now that we are doing this, it seems almost anti-climatic. How could this happen?

We venture that this apparent popular indifference means above all that people long since have endorsed the idea of working with other countries to preserve peace.

The United Nations charter won U. S. ratification in quick order. World War II, with the atom bomb, guided missiles and long-range planes, sent the shrunken remnants of isolationism scattering.

Russia's open sabotage of the UN, coupled with her aggressive designs on Europe, compelled the western nations to fall back upon less sweeping regional machinery to help avert war. That machinery is the North Atlantic Pact.

The American people appear to have accepted the notion that this treaty embraces the same principle of collective security that they agreed to the UN charter.

Of course, the government, large segments of the press and other agencies helped to educate people to endorsement of the pact. All these got a boost from Russia's stubborn refusal to work co-operatively for peace and recovery. But the real groundwork was already laid.

In hearings on the treaty, Senators Watkins and Donnell deplored what they felt was popular apathy. They charged that the committee had prejudged the issue and was not eager to hear opposition.

Their effort to rally opponents collapsed in dismal failure. Either the real protesting forces are too small or they are afraid to speak out openly.

For they probably realize, as did the committee, that the prevailing mood of the people is to make their strength felt in unity with other like-minded nations.

Reinforced by that popular temper, the senate committee has given America's friends and her possible enemies thumping proof that we intend to stand firm against aggression.

Citizen Control Is Basic Issue

BURIED in the legislative shuffle during the recent session of the Michigan legislature was a proposal, House Bill 506, introduced by Lewis G. Christman of Ann Arbor, that deserved far more public consideration than it received. The bill was approved in the house and reported out by a senate committee. The pressure group then descended upon it and the bill was ultimately swamped. House Bill 506 was designed to prevent the use of public money, public property or public employees' time for political or propaganda purposes.

The basic question involved in this issue is simply this:

Should voters' money be used to tell voters how to vote?

The campaign on the tax diversion amendment last year provides an example of the evils that House Bill 506 was designed to eliminate. In that campaign municipalities throughout Michigan used taxpayers' money to influence the vote on this issue. The City of Escanaba was no exception. The City of Detroit even used the broadside of the elephants at the municipal zoo to plaster billboards in support of the tax diversion amendment. In many places the campaign was carried on right in the classrooms of the schools.

Those who favor the tax diversion amendment may be blinded to the more fundamental principle involved herein. The practice of using tax money for propaganda purposes, in effect, substitutes the judgment of public officials for the judgment of the citizenry. This practice cannot be defended without endorsing authoritarian techniques.

It is interesting to note what a Detroit court had to say about this practice in one case in which the complaint of a citizen against the use of public money for propaganda purposes was upheld. Here are the comments of the court:

"The entry of a municipality financially into campaigns in connection with constitutional matters or referendum matters or any other political matters was never contemplated by the constitution or the laws of this state. Taxes are not raised for the purpose of carrying on political campaigns, regardless of the questions involved. One of the most important things to bear in mind is the fact that these funds which are proposed to be expended belong not to the people alone who will vote in accord with the resolution and the thought of the council, but belong to all the people of this municipality, whether they vote for or against this constitutional amendment. When they take the money and use it for propaganda purposes, while it would satisfy the people who are going to vote in accordance with the thought of the council, it certainly would give rise to considerable dissatisfaction on the part of the people who do not believe that way and who are just as much entitled to have that money spent on their behalf as are the other folks."

LONG DUSKS

It is summer by Nature's calendar. The solstice has come and the sun is beginning its long slant southward. Year's longest day of flower beauty is behind us; ahead is the heat of July and the long pull as August drags through its days on sticky feet. Now there is a poignant interlude of long dusks. Between June 21st and July 1st is one of the memory times of year.

There is a reluctance at day's end as if it wished to cling to the almost 15 hour sunlight of the first day of summer. The sun sets late and to the north. When a blue and white June day draws toward its close, the red ball of sun seems to hang suspended a few extra minutes over the dark mountain rim silhouetted against the glowing sky. As the sun drops from sight, gray-blue shadows march in formation down the eastern slopes of the hills. With slow, steady progress they cross the valley and dull shining silver of the winding river. Windowpanes glow briefly like molten gold; then the western slopes of hills behind the house begin to darken. Flames of red and orange, yellow and saffron light the sky for a few minutes; then they fade to pinks and purples, violet and steel-blue.

Chimney swifts put on their evening aerial-circus and a night hawk's hollow boom echoes from above the field. Frogs chant a monotone chorus and a sleepy robin sends a late call into the air. As dusk deepens a whippoorwill throws his poignantly sad whistle into the darkness. Fireflies come from their daytime lairs and stage a lantern ballet of orange-red streaks over the lawn and garden. Somehow there is a peculiar feeling of depth in these late June evenings. The evening air is moist and one senses the lush growth of verdure. The stars' wicks are lighted in the sky and a sheen of thin silver lies over fields and meadows where ghost-garb banks of mist are gathering for night vigil. As one sits on a sheltered porch and listens to night sounds scratching against the darkness, he senses that year is drawing on. Long dusks mean that maturity is nearing for many plants. Only a few weeks and autumn's fulfillment will mark another milestone. Meanwhile, for a brief interlude, man can enjoy the long dusks.—By Haydn Pearson.

QUESTIONS ABOUT WORDS

San Bernardino: Is it "Music hath charms to soothe the savage beast?"—Mrs. E.

A. Sorry, no; that's a common misquotation. The line occurs in "The Mourning Bride," a play by William Congreve (1670-1729):

Music hath charms to soothe the savage beast,
To soften rocks, or bend a knotted oak.

Mishawaka: Please make C. B. S. announcer Richard C. Hotalet stop saying "clan-de-TINE" for clandestine.—W. C. I. A. Richard, stop saying "clan-de-TINE"! It's: klan-DESS-tin. See any dictionary.

Aside to Fulton Leake: The word auspices is not "AWSS-pl-seez." Nor is premises "PREM-l-seez." No authority sanctions the "eez" in these two words.

Wilson: Who first wrote "United we stand divided we fall"?—Mrs. B. W. K.

A. It appears to have been used first in Aesop's fable "The Four Oxen and the Lion." George Pope Morris (1802-1864) used it in the poem "The Flag of Our

New Weapons For Next War

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent
Washington (NEA).—Consideration of the North Atlantic Pact and the $1,450,000,000 arms-for-Europe program naturally lead to much speculation on the nature of the next war—if it comes to that.

There have of course been many predictions that the next war will be the last one. The idea behind that is that new weapons will be so deadly that civilization won't survive. That prediction has been made before, but it has been wrong every time.

Toward the end of World War II a number of weapons came into limited use which may play important roles in World War III. Among them may be mentioned the proximity fuse, the medium-range rocket, the jet-powered guided missile, the non-magnetic land mine which cannot be detected by ordinary screening methods, and the recoilless rifle which gives two infantrymen practically the equivalent fire power of a 75-mm. artillery weapon.

The atomic bomb is usually mentioned at the head of this list. But the idea that sole reliance should be placed on the atomic bomb to win the next war is now being questioned seriously. It is of no use against deployed troops. It would be of no use against Communist forces in Greece and China. It would be of no use against Russian troops that might launch a sudden offensive movement against western Europe.

—INDUSTRIAL TARGETS POSSIBLE—
Atomic bombs could of course be used against Russian industrial production. But western European steel-making capacity of some 55,000,000 tons a year—to cite one example—would be of greater use to the Russians than their own 20,000,000-ton capacity at home. Other captured resources would be greater, too.

Russia's military superiority in Europe must be admitted. Russian armies would probably be able to occupy much of western Europe in, say, two to three months. Having seized these industrial areas, the United States would probably have a hard decision to make on whether to use atomic bombs against western Europe because that would mean wanton destruction of the people of allied nations.

The military problem in Europe, therefore, could resolve itself into a question of how best to defend the western democracies against invasion by an aggressor. Keeping a foothold in Europe from which a counter-offensive can eventually be launched is of paramount importance. Here is where the North Atlantic Pact and the military assistance program to build up western European defensive forces come into play.

The five weapons of late World War II vintage, mentioned previously, may all play an important role in this defensive warfare. The proximity fuse—which incorporates a small radio set in the nose of the shell, causing it to "home" on metal—is an extremely deadly weapon against aircraft.

—MISSILES MAY DOOM BOMBERS—
Jet-powered guided missiles, with speeds several times the speed of sound, may eventually doom the day of the long-range bomber which must poke along at speeds of only 400 miles an hour.

If the rocket with ranges of up to several hundred miles had been perfected by the Germans several years earlier, World War II might have had a different ending. Its use in the next war will be even greater.

The non-magnetic mine and the recoilless rifle have capabilities of changing entirely the character of land warfare in defensive operations.

The initial arms assistance program under the North Atlantic Pact does not contemplate completely equipping the armies of the 12 allied western European nations with all this latest gadgetry. For a little less than a billion and a half dollars that couldn't be done. Included in this total is perhaps $100,000,000 for European arms manufacturing equipment, $320,000,000 for Greece and Turkey, $1,000,000,000 for arms proper.

It has sometimes been said that since it costs $200,000,000 to arm one division, the billion will add only five divisions in Europe. That argument misses entirely the real purpose of the arms aid program, which is to complete the equipment of European divisions now inadequately armed and short on transport, to make them effective, full-strength fighting units.

It is of course only a start. It will require additional expenditures in future years. The purpose now is to build up the manpower and arsenals of western Europe for action against an aggressor in what may be a new type of defensive warfare.

Union.
Cassville: In a poem of my childhood concerning the Owl and the Pussy Cat, they ate with a "runcible spoon." What is it?—Mrs. F. E. D.

A. A runcible spoon is a kind of fork with three broad tines, one of which has a sharp edge for cutting. Merriam Webster thinks that the runcible spoon was named "... perhaps originally in jocular allusion to the slaughter at the battle of Roncevaux, because it (the spoon) has a cutting edge."

Aside to Martin Agronsky: The pronunciation "FROM-ul-gate" for the word promulgate is a Briticism, and, therefore, a spotlight in an American speech pattern. The Standard American pronunciation is: pro-MULL-gate.

Hollywood: I have been considering using this as the name of a firm: Blank Struction and Termite Control. Does that sound all right?—R. O. V. H.

A. Sorry, no. There is no such word as "struction." Better use the word construction.

Los Angeles: A headline says, "Man Kills Mongoloid Son." What does mongoloid mean?—Mrs. I. B. O'B.

A. In a medical sense mongoloid designates a type of congenital malformation in which the child has slanting eyes, and a broad, short skull like a Mongolian. Such children are often imbeciles.

Good Evening By Clint Dunathan

THE BERRIES—Reports from those who have been romping through the wide open spaces are to the effect that blueberries will be scarce again this summer. A little matter of that light frost that did heavy damage to the blueberry plants while they were in blossom. It will mean a greater dependence upon the growers of tame berries to supply the tons of small fruits canned and made into jellies by housewives to supply the family needs this coming winter.

Dunathan

It was far from a wintry day when William Dahlstrom of Whitney stopped by to report that his big tame raspberry patch is doing fine. He has 15 acres of berries and when they ripen about mid-July he will throw the patch open to pickers who want to buy their fruit on the bushes. They can pick and choose, and pay only for the amount they take home. The raspberry season will last for about six weeks and Sundays are usually the "big days" when most pickers are able to get out to Dahlstrom's place at Whitney.

—AND THE BEAR—Mrs. Emil Juneau of Ensign reports that black bear are getting familiar—perhaps too familiar—around their place. The Juneaus have a gas station a half mile west of St. Jacques on US-2.

Last Wednesday morning about 6:15 o'clock Mrs. Juneau saw a large bear about 50 feet from the house. She called her husband ("cause he wouldn't believe it unless he saw it himself") and they watched the bear amble across the highway and disappear into the woods.

"It was the first time we have seen a bear so close to our home and I was wondering if it was because people were throwing walleyes around," Mrs. Juneau continues. "At a cabin near here I found where some people had been staying for a week and also found they had dumped several fish, quite a number of fish heads and garbage back of the cabin. It proved a good drawing card for bear."

—TURKEY BUZZARD—Peter Hanley of Escanaba, who was a state trapper back some 20 years ago, says that turkey buzzards may not be common to the Upper Peninsula—but they have been seen around here occasionally for many years.

His comment followed the recent report, together with a picture, of the accidental trapping of a turkey buzzard by Mrs. Myra Thill of Fayette. The turkey buzzard is large and not a very pretty bird usually encountered in the southern United States. Mrs. Thill caught the bird in one of the traps she had set and baited for coyotes.

Hanley caught a turkey buzzard near Wilson as early as 1925 and another northeast of LaBranche.

—THE CROSSING—Thursday night at Bay de Noquette Grange hall at Stonington the Grange observed its 40th anniversary with a suitable program, followed by a dancing party. Among those called upon for remarks by Grange Master Peder Pederson was Arthur Smith, a resident of Stonington for many years.

Mr. Smith described how in the early days, he would cross to Escanaba on the ice. Once, in particular, the first crossing was on ice so thin that Smith and his companion had to crawl so their weight would be distributed and they would not break through. Another

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Escanaba—J. T. Sharpsteen has been appointed a member of the nominating committee of the Michigan Association of Road Commissioners and Engineers.

Munising—Mrs. Lawrence Larson is spending the week end at the home of her mother, Mrs. Charles Clement, Lynn Street.

Escanaba—Miss Betty Mather is leaving today for Ypsilanti, where she has been attending Michigan state Normal college, to resume her studies for the summer term.

Gladstone—Chief of Police Torval Kallerson won possession of the Willis Pistol trophy at a shoot held Thursday night at the club range on the bluff.

Manistique—Mr. and Mrs. James G. Wood have returned from Detroit, where Mr. Wood attended the convention of the Michigan Bankers Association.

Twenty Years Ago

Escanaba—Miss Mildred Richter, a student at Lawrence College, Appleton, Wis., is spending the summer vacation at her home in this city.

Escanaba—Rev. and Mrs. Carl E. Berger left yesterday for a visit in Racine and Milwaukee. They will stop off at Fond du Lac to visit Mrs. H. W. Reade, who was injured recently in an automobile accident.

Gladstone—The Woman's Catholic Order of Foresters, Sacred Heart Court, will meet this evening at 8 o'clock in the All Saints' parish hall.

Gladstone—Miss Mary Alice Bushong entertained at a yachting party Monday evening aboard the J. Paul Bushong craft, "Regina".

time they used a board to push along the thin ice that was encountered near Escanaba. Arriving safe in town, an Escanaba man, who had watched their slow progress, said, "You should have a horse whipping." When they asked why, the Escanaba man replied, "Because you are my friends!"

—DANGEROUS—The concern of this Escanaba man for the safety of his Stonington friends is understandable. Yet the risks they took endangered only themselves.

In Escanaba late that Thursday night, after returning from the Grange anniversary program at Stonington, we saw an exhibition of recklessness that (but for fortunate circumstances) might have caused the injury or death of several persons. The reckless person was the driver of a large car who, in an effort to escape the police, drove 50 miles an hour without lights down a residential street. At one of several intersections, including a stop street, that driver might have crashed into another car. Such reckless use of an auto is as criminal as the reckless use of a firearm or other dangerous weapon.

—SALT WATER—Art Schafer of the U. S. Forest Service, who spoke to the Grange at Stonington at its anniversary program, told of the difficulty in obtaining a good water supply at the Peninsula Point lighthouse. The Grange is sponsoring a project to maintain the old lighthouse and open it to the public, in cooperation with the Forest Service.

Schafer said the Forest Service drilled three wells there in an effort to obtain a good water supply for picnickers. The first well, about 90 feet deep, proved to be salt; the second at over 300 feet also was salt. The third, drilled only to a depth of 45 feet, provided the best water—but it still has some slight salt taste. Schafer didn't say so, but from experience I can tell you the water does not make good coffee.

Barden Bill—Pro

Dear Editor:

There appeared recently in the "Public Forum" an article bearing the title, "Discrimination," referring to the Barden Bill, which is receiving the attention of the Congress of the United States. This bill as the writer of "Discrimination" pointed out aims to provide Federal Aid to the amount of 300 million dollars to the public schools. It bans however any aid to parochial schools, and it is for this reason that it is being called "discriminatory."

In my judgment there is nothing "discriminatory" about this bill. It is simply following the good American tradition of absolute separation of state and church, as it ought to do, and does not discriminate against the children attending parochial schools. If parents wish to have their children indoctrinated with the principles of sectarianism, as they are in parochial schools, then the parents of such children, should be willing to pay the cost of such indoctrination, and not seek assistance from the public school funds. No American child is prohibited from attending the public schools, and if parents feel that their children do not receive the religious training they ought to have in the public schools, and desires to send them to the parochial school, they have that privilege, but they should be willing to sustain the parochial school with their own funds, as they are expected to support the church of their choice with their own funds.

(Reverend) Karl J. Hammar.

Barden Bill—Con

Dear Editor:

I should like to go on record as a very strong objector to the "Barden Bill" which discriminates against denominational schools. I believe it is impossible to teach religion in public schools in a manner fair to all. The parents of the children attending denominational schools are also supporting public schools by paying taxes. They are therefore carrying a double burden because they want their children to grow up according to the ideals of their faith. There are certain places where denominational schools should have federal aid, i.e., in transportation, in health programs and in non-religious textbooks.

I feel that this matter is of vital importance to our nation, that every child should be brought up with the best attitudes and ideals toward God, our country and home.

(Mrs. T. M.) Margaret D. Cassidy.

(Editor's Note: Winner of the $1 award for the best letter published last week in the Public Forum is the author of the letter, "Romance in the Rough," a clever nature piece.)

So They Say

If this is allowed to stand, if the whitewash (of the Malmady Massacre trials) succeeds, the United States can never protest the use of these methods by totalitarian countries. If the United States condones these actions by a few men, all the world can criticize and forever after question our motives.—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R) of Wisconsin.

I cannot help it if the Communists fellow-traveled with me. I didn't fellow-travel with them.—Atomic scientist Harold C. Urey, before the Illinois Seditions Activities Commission.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington.—It isn't often that two men who have held the same cabinet job are summoned before the president to settle the question of whether one is supporting the other. However, that is what happened to ex-secretary of agriculture Clinton Anderson and his successor secretary, Charles Brannan. Both faced each other last week in front of Mr. Truman.

Anderson, once a pillar in the Truman cabinet, now an A-1 senator from New Mexico, slipped in the side door of the White House unnoticed by newsmen. Truman promptly challenged him regarding reports that he was blocking parts of the Brannan farm plan. Anderson vigorously denied the charge; then, to convince the doubting president, he asked that Brannan himself be questioned.

So Truman picked up the phone and asked Brannan to hustle over to the White House. A few minutes later, all three sat down and ironed out their differences. The results of that talk will probably be felt on every farm in America.

Anderson denied that he wanted to extend the present, G. O. P.-written laws, insisted that he saw eye-to-eye with Brannan on the basic needs for new farm legislation. Except for a few technical points, Anderson showed that he was 99 per cent behind the Brannan plan. Brannan in turn told the president that his old friend and former boss was helping, not hampering, the plan in the Senate.

—THREE-CROP EXPERIMENT—
Anderson warned, however, that the program might be too costly to adopt all at once.

Brannan agreed, said the best approach would be to take one commodity at a time. His plan would call for "production payments" to the farmers to maintain a minimum selling price. Then, instead of having the government buy up the surplus as it does with potatoes and let them rot, Brannan would let the price drop and give the consumer the benefit. The "production payments" would make up the difference between what the farmer gets and what the housewife pays.

Brannan agreed to try out his plan on two or three commodities, and Anderson in return promised to push the program in the senate. Immediately after this conference, word was passed to the house which then approved the Brannan plan for three commodities to be selected by the secretary of agriculture. The three have not been designated yet, but they will probably be potatoes, hogs and wool.

The senate is still dragging its feet—but not through any fault of ex-secretary of agriculture Anderson, who is a member of the agriculture committee. The truth is that Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma, chairman of the committee, is sluggish about passing the bill. And the ranking Republican, Vermont's able Senator George Aiken, is holding it up by asking critical questions. He claims the Brannan plan is nothing but a revamped version of his own program, adopted by the 80th Congress, and he sees no reason for substituting.

—400,000 U. S. AMBASSADORS—
The live-wire American Automobile association has launched a unique campaign to educate American tourists on how to be good-will ambassadors.

Last week this column published a suggestion to undersecretary of state James Webb that the state department issue with each passport a reminder—as the army did to G. I.'s landing in England during the war—that great good will can be accomplished by the careful American tourist while great ill will can be stirred up by the opposite type.

The American Automobile association has now taken up this idea and is reminding its members that every tourist can be a diplomat. The average man-in-the-street in Europe never meets an American ambassador. He gets his ideas about the U. S. A. from a confusing hodgepodge of propaganda—some of it communist—or from the 400,000 Americans going abroad this summer.

The Communists have been waging an astute campaign to sow world opinion on free-spending, loud-talking Americans. So the best way to counteract that propaganda is by improved behavior on the part of those Americans.

To make every tourist a diplomat, the AAA has set up the following ten commandments of good travel manners:

1. Conform with the local customs.
2. Avoid bragging, loudness and arrogance.
3. Try to pick up at least a few words of the language. This is always flattering to the natives.
4. Learn something about the countries you will visit. You will get more out of your trip, and at the same time pay a compliment to the local people.
5. Don't flaunt your money. Throwing money around only offends the natives who don't earn as much as Americans.
6. Don't haggle. Excessive haggling may save a few cents, but it leaves bad feeling.
7. Be moderate. It is rare to find drunkenness outside of the United States in any but the lowest specimens.
8. Be friendly. Treat all people you meet with decency and courtesy.
9. Avoid arguments. Short of defending your honor, keep out of arguments and fights.
10. Be careful with women. This is for men only. What may seem to be innocuous pleasures in America may be downright taboo in other lands.

Boiling down all this advice into one sentence, the AAA declares: "When abroad you are a guest; act like one."

NOTE—Virtually all U. S. efforts to win over Europe so far are on the basis of government-to-government. Yet governments can change overnight. People don't. That is one reason why the roots of lasting friendship must be planted in people.

Let's all shake on the cheering fact that it's easy to pack a grip full of friendliness! Lots of men wish they had a good home—so they could mortgage it and buy a car.

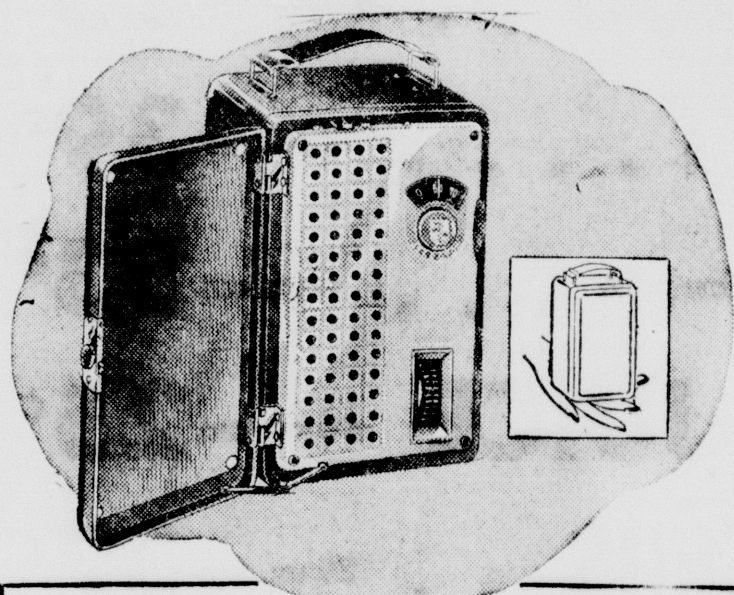

The wisest side of politics is the outside.

Amputee Veterans Play Game July 26

By HAL BOYLE

New York (P)—Capt. Bob Anderson isn't worried about his own team.

But he is worried about the caliber of the enemy ball team that will trot into the polo grounds against his outfit the night of July 26th. And, of course, he's fretting about the attendance.

"Last year we drew only about 3,000," he said indignantly. "What do they think we play in wheel chairs? This year we're hoping for 30,000."

The game is one of the most unusual sports events in New York. It'll be the 17th annual baseball contest between amputee war veterans, sponsored by the National Amputation Foundation.

"We're trying to raise $100,000 for an amputee information and research center here," said Anderson. "But the main thing is to get the public out so we can show them an amputee can do anything they can."

Bob, 25, lost his left arm to a German artillery shell in France in 1945. He is shortstop and captain of the arm amputee team. The rival team is made up of leg amputees.

"And are these leg amps getting cocky," he said. "They're going around town laying 2-to-1 bets against us."

"We beat them 4 to 1 last season, but they do have a terrific team this year. It'll be a close game."

"All the players on both teams are vets from the second world war. The first world war vets are getting paunchy and slowing up. We want to keep the game fast. And these leg amps are really fast, too. They say their pitcher, Bert Shepard, can still run a hundred yards in around 12 seconds."

Starts Truck Line
Shepard, a former big leaguer, is now player-manager with the Waterbury, Conn., Timers in the Colonial League. Several other amputees are semi-pro players.

Like many another amputee Young Anderson is angry at what he believes is senseless job discrimination against men who have lost arms or legs in war or industrial accidents.

"It's harder for everybody to get a job today—and that doesn't make it any easier for the amps," he said. "Employers take an application from an amp and say, 'we'll let you know.' But usually they don't. When they see he has a physical disability, they forget him quick."

It isn't a personal problem with

Mrs. Levi Barbeau and Mrs. Allan Young were the other prize winners for the evening.

Lunch was served at the close of the evening. The guest of honor received many beautiful and useful gifts.

Out-of-town guests at the party included Mrs. Andy Sundberg, Mrs. Ferd Sundberg, Miss Thelma Sundberg of Ensign, Mrs. Joe Laginia and Mrs. John Laginia of Kipling.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Jack McCarthy and sons, Michael and Charles, of Lansing spent the week end with relatives. They were accompanied here by Charles Kirch who has been visiting in Lansing and Bob. When he was discharged from the army, he wanted to go into the trucking business. But because he had no experience the banks refused to lend him the necessary capital.

Bob started a small retail egg route and saved enough to buy a truck. Now he has four trucks, four employees and a $12,000 a year income.

"Most people think it's a disadvantage to lose an arm," he said. "I think it's an asset. It teaches you to use your head instead of your brawn. And I don't regret a minute I spent in the army. It made me grow up fast."

"I can do as much work as any man still—load and unload 1,200 cases in a day. But little by little I'm getting away from the hard work. I'm getting to be a white collar truckman."

DEATH CLAIMS TOM MAHONEY

Dies In Boat Accident
On Indian River

Manistique—Thomas Mahoney, 67, a resident of Manistique for the past ten years, died about 9 p. m. last night in a boating accident on the Indian river. His death was believed to have been caused by a heart attack, or it may have resulted by drowning.

The accident occurred as the boat in which Mr. and Mrs. Mahoney and Mr. and Mrs. Neil Halsey were riding passed beneath the Indian river bridge as they were leaving Indian lake. Mrs. Mahoney and the Halseys clung to the overturned boat but Mr. Mahoney did not come up, and it is believed he may have suffered a heart attack.

Assisting in rescuing Mrs. Mahoney and the Halseys were Jerome McNamara, Art Allen, William Bayes and Miss Dottie Lundstrom, four young people who had been standing at the bridge at the time of the accident. They reported that the two couples in the boat had waved to them as they started beneath the bridge. The accident happened beneath the bridge and they did not witness it.

State police and sheriff's officers were summoned and the body was recovered about 9:45 p. m. and taken to the Morton funeral home.

Mr. Mahoney was well known in Schoolcraft county and was active in county Republican affairs. He served as chairman of the county Republican committee for four years, retiring two years ago.

In reporting the accident to officers, Halsey said Mahoney suddenly slumped to the side of the boat, causing it to capsize.

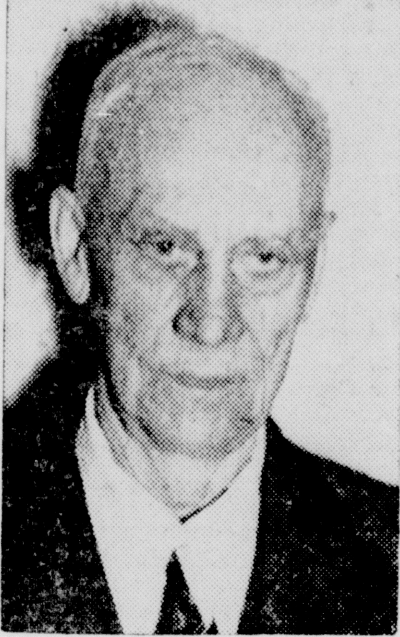

Mr. Mahoney was born in Chicago and when a young man enlisted as a policeman, retiring 10 years ago as captain.

Surviving are his widow, Clara, two daughters, Mrs. Kenneth Becker of Broadfield, Ill., and Mrs. Thomas O'Mahoney of Chicago; one son, John, of Lyons, Ill. He was a member of St. Francis de Sales church and of the local council of the Knights of Columbus.

Arrangements for the funeral had not been completed today.

Because of its tropical situation and reliance on monsoon rains, India is more vulnerable to crop failures and famines than any other country in the world.

Mr. Paulin was born in Kohler, Wis., October 27, 1873, and came to Escanaba 48 years ago from Random Lake, Wis. He married Catherine Steinmetz October 27, 1896 and they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in 1946. He retired from active work in 1940. He was a member of St. Joseph's church.

Surviving are his wife and the following sons: Wilmer and Clarence, Marshfield, Wis., and Lester, Francis, Ervin and Gordon of Escanaba; 11 grandchildren, two great grandchildren; one brother, Frank of Kohler, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Sanders of Milwaukee.

Jim Running Returns In Defense Of Title

King of the White Water Jimmie Running, 28, Eau Claire, Wis., will defend his birling title here in the world championship role to be staged July 2-3-4.

Running has competed in five title races and has won two. His first title came in 1942 in Gladstone and he was dethroned by Eddie Herron, brother of former champion Jimmie Herron of the west coast, in 1947.

He returned in 1948 and regained the title in a match with Jimmie Herron that was one of the longest and most thrilling of any in the history of local staging of the event.

Tough Competitor

Also in the running again will be Ray Heideman, 31, of Milwaukee who last year staged the surprise of the tournament when he eliminated champion Eddie Herron in an early round the opening day, and went on to place third in the championship match. Ray has entered the title round and also the trick and fancy event.

Coach of football and basketball at St. Johns Cathedral high school at Milwaukee, Heideman during summer vacations is head lifeguard and director of swimming at the Eau Claire beach.

Also entered from Eau Claire is Edward Ludwikowski and this will be his first crack at the title.

Returning to defend his junior birling title is Bill Galbraith, 14, of Fort Francis, Ontario, Canada.

His chum and birling practice partner, Ronnie Kyle, Fort Francis, who was runner-up last year, entered earlier.

Another Canadian youth to return this year is Ray Cousineau, 14, also of Fort Francis. All three boys are trained by Francis Pelquin, who won the title here in 1946.

Bill Fontana, 22, of Fort Francis is coming here to seek the men's crown.

No word has been received from Jimmie Herron or the Swanson Brothers on the west coast. Former Champion Eddie Herron is not expected as he sustained a leg injury sometime ago that will prevent him competing.

ALASKA BOUND IN A HEARSE

Four Harvard Students Stop In Manistique

Four young men, undergraduates from Harvard university, Cambridge, Mass., enroute to Fairbanks, Alaska, were forced to tarry here because their car broke a rear axle.

The men were husky and heavily bearded and stated that they would seek employment when they got there.

What seemed to rate them as out of the ordinary among the thousands of tourists passing through was the vehicle in which they rode. It was a hearse. The space ordinarily devoted for the most solemn of missions was given over to tents and camping paraphernalia.

They were able to continue their journey Saturday morning.

Three Moting Mishaps On US-2 Saturday Morning

State police were called upon to investigate three accidents Saturday, the first occurring shortly after midnight Saturday morning at Garden Corners when a car driven east on Highway U. S. 2 by Leo Demars, of Manistique collided with one approaching the highway from a side road driven by Joseph Duschene, of Garden. Ronald Maitland in the Demars car and Milton Farley of Garden in the Duschene car received minor injuries from cuts and bruises. Maitland was treated at the Shaw hospital, but was promptly released.

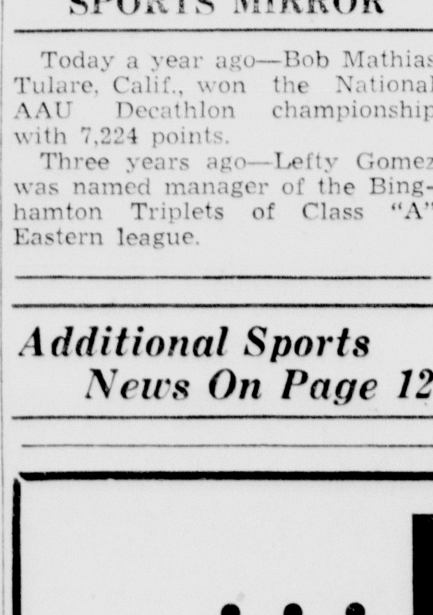

Saturday morning about nine o'clock a car driven by Francis J. Hanford of Detroit, left the road and turned over in the vicinity of the Green schoolhouse. Mrs. Hanford was lightly injured and was treated for bruises at the Shaw hospital.

Later on the same morning, a truck driven by Edward F. Roller of Detroit, collided with a car driven by Alex Paul of Western Ontario. Details of the affair have not been fully ascertained, but the accident was due to one car passing another with some apparent mis

Leader Of Korean Party Assassinated

Rightist Chief, 73, Shot Dead In His Bedroom

By WILLIAM R. MOORE
Seoul, June 27 (AP) — Korean President Syngman Rhee today promised the "full story" of Rightist Leader Kim Koo's assassination would be told when an investigation is completed. Mystery shrouded the case.

Kim, 73-year-old chief of the Korean Independence party, was slain in the bedroom of his heavily guarded home yesterday. Police identified the killer as an army lieutenant and member of Koo's party.

The Korean Pacific Press Agency said today Korean newspapers had been told to omit further military references. For this there was no explanation.

This was the original police account of the slaying of the veteran politician who had been a rival of Rhee, also a Rightist, for leadership of the infant republic of Korea.

Four army officers, all members of Kim's opposition party, called on the aging leader at night yesterday. Guards admitted them without question for Kim had feared only an assassination attempt by Leftists.

One of the four officers, a second lieutenant identified only as Ahn, went upstairs for a private conference with Kim. Five minutes later four shots were heard. The other three rushed upstairs and found the lieutenant, a .45 caliber pistol in hand, standing over the dying political leader.

The three officers beat Ahn unconscious with furniture. He still was unable to talk today.

The ladies decided to pay a part of the necessary expenses for two girls to attend the Methodist summer camp at Michigamme.

The next meeting will be at the Community church, July 12, at 2 p. m. The Baptist women of Munnising will meet with them at this time. The lunch will be "pot luck."

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. Victor Buckland. V. F. W. Auxiliary Department Convention

Karas Is Rotary Club President

William J. Karas today was presented with the president's gavel of the Escanaba Rotary club by O. V. Thatcher, retiring president, in the last meeting of the Rotary year. James Fitzharris is vice president.

At its meeting today noon in the Delta hotel Thatcher expressed his appreciation for the assistance the club members had given during the past year, and recounted some of the club's major activities. The construction of the Rotary club day camp for crippled children at Ford River, now in progress, is being accomplished through the work of the crippled children's committee and the assistance of many people in the Escanaba community, Thatcher reported.

Karas as incoming president declared the project will be successfully accomplished and that it is a challenge, a "beginning and not an end" to future work to aid the crippled and handicapped children of Delta county.

There will be no meeting of the club next Monday, July 4, because of the national holiday.

Union Bows To Demands From Big 3

there will be no retaliation against strikers.

The workers' third demand—recognition of the UGO as official bargaining agent—was denied.

Nevertheless, success of the strike has been such that the UGO, which began it with 3,000 members, now has 14,000.

Losses In Millions

The strike, which began without allied objection two days before the opening of the Paris foreign ministers council, cost two lives and hundreds of casualties in riots. Economic losses are estimated at 20,000,000 west marks. ($6,000,000).

The strike stopped all elevated trains in west Berlin, movement of trains from West Germany to Berlin, and much traffic routed from the west to the Soviet zone.

The end of the strike clears the way for initiation of four power consultations by deputy military governors this week on encouraging a return of east-west trade. This conference was agreed on by the foreign ministers at Paris.

Argentina's Trade With U.S. Hampered

British Get Pact Despite American Protests

Buenos Aires, June 27 (AP) — Britain and Argentina signed a five-year trade agreement today, thus ignoring United States objections to the pact.

The signing was done in the presence of President Juan D. Peron, his wife and a group of high officials in the white salon of government house.

Sir John Balfour, Britain's Ambassador to Argentina, and four ministers who form the Argentine National Economic Council signed the Spanish and English copies. The ceremony, broadcast over the Argentine network, required two minutes.

American businessmen believe the two-way pact will cut off one of their important South American markets. The United States claims the pact violates the spirit of free competitive international trade. American officials fear it might keep United States oil and farm machinery off the Argentine market.

Under the agreement, Britain will supply the bulk of Argentina's imports. These would range from much needed oil and coal to automobiles and whisky. In return, Britain would get from Argentina an estimated 300,000 tons of meat plus cereals and other items.

Three-way United States-British-Argentine trade has been practically impossible since 1947 when the British blocked pound convertibility. Blocking the pound meant Argentina could not exchange pounds she earned by selling to Britain for dollars to purchase from the United States.

London, June 27 (AP)—Ted Schroeder of La Crescenta, Calif., became the last American survivor in the Wimbledon Men's Tennis Championships today when defending champion Bob Falkenburg of Beverly Hills was defeated by John Bromwich of Australia in the quarter-finals, 3-6, 6-4, 6-0, 6-0, 6-4.

Eric Sturgess, South African Davis cup star defeated Frankie Parker of Los Angeles, 3-6, 6-4, 3-6, 6-1, 6-3, today in the quarter-finals of the Wimbledon tennis championships.

Parker, twice former American champion, was seeded third in the present tournament. Sturgess was a finalist in last year's American title meet, where he was defeated by Pancho Gonzales of Los Angeles.

The two baseliners battled for more than two hours on the center court in 84-degree heat before Sturgess pulled out today's match. It was London's hottest day of the year.

Jaroslav Drobny of Czechoslovakia joined Sturgess in the semifinal round by defeating Geoff Brown of Australia, 2-6, 7-5, 1-6, 6-2, 6-4. Brown two days ago eliminated Gonzales, the U. S. champion, in a major upset.

Landlords Prepare To Increase Rents

New Services To Tenants Open Up Applications

By STERLING F. GREEN
Washington, June 27 (AP) — About a million landlords may be preparing to ask rent ceiling increases under the 1949 rent control act.

Housing expediter Tighe E. Woods reported today that his agency's offices have handed out that many application blanks.

Woods disclosed also that he has issued four new orders which may bring higher rents to additional landlords, as long as they give tenants new services or improvements.

The new rules give local rent directors wide leeway to grant increases to owners who spend money on remodeling, decorating and the installation of new furniture, furniture or other equipment.

Predicting that this might encourage a spurt of activity in the building and building materials fields, Woods told a reporter:

"If only $100 were spent on each of the 14,000,000 dwellings now under rent ceilings, landlords would be putting $1,400,000,000 worth of new jobs and sales into the economy."

The liberalized instructions, never announced here but by now a part of each local expediter's operating manual, were not required by the new law, Woods explained—"but Congress gave me the impression that this was what it wanted."

Under the act itself, a small landlord whose net operating income is less than 25 per cent of his gross income can qualify for a rent boost bringing his net to 30 per cent.

The owner of more than four dwelling units who now is getting less than 20 per cent will be allowed an increase to 25 per cent. This is what Woods has determined to be "fair net operating income" as required by the law.

PERISHES IN FIRE

Lansing, (AP)—John Griffith, 60-year-old retired railway man, burned to death in a fire that partially destroyed his home here Sunday.

His wife, Therese, and her sister, Miss Winifred Redmond, escaped from the burning house. Damage was estimated at $6,000.

Florida Governor On Honeymoon With California Bride

Los Angeles, June 27 (AP)—Governor Fuller Warren of Florida and his pretty sun-tanned California bride are honeymooning today.

Barbara Jeanne Manning, 23, softly spoke the words "I do" for the governor in a late afternoon candle lit ceremony at Westwood Community church yesterday.

There were 200 fashionably dressed guests inside the church and a crowd of informally dressed curious on the outside as the silver-haired 43-year-old governor and the bride recited their vows.

A Lutheran minister, the Rev. A. J. Soldan, officiated, omitting the word "obey" from the ceremony.

The church, lavishly decorated with flowers, formed a colorful setting for the uniting of a Florida governor and a California beauty. But outside the sky was leaden gray with not even a trace of sunshine.

The newlyweds, after a reception, left for an unannounced destination in Southern California. They planned to leave late today by plane for Ft. Walton, Fla., near Pensacola. The governor said state business will draw him back to his desk at Tallahassee in about four days.

Two Pontiac Youths Die in Stolen Auto Crashed Into Tree

Pontiac, Mich., June 27 (AP) — Two teen-aged youths were killed early today when a car they were driving crashed into a tree and burned on Rochester Road southeast of here.

Police said the car had been stolen.

The victims were Howard John Perry, 16, (26553 Barrington) and Robert Saria, 17 (26537 Barrington) both of Royal Oak township.

Police said they apparently had been driving between 75 and 85 miles per hour at the time of the crash. Their bodies were wedged between the car and tree, and officers worked for an hour and a half after the fire to remove them.

Officers checking the car found it belonged to Virginia Imbler of Lakeville in Oakland county. When they went to her home, they found the automobile was missing. However, the owner had not known of the theft before the officers' arrival.
